DURANDAL THE SWORD OF ROLAND

This mythical sword was given to King Charlemagne, King of the Franks, by an angel and was then given to his most fierce paladin, Roland. There are countless ideas of what this blade would have looked like. We have decided to go with a more fantastical medieval interpretation of this sword. The wide blade is handforged from 1065 high-carbon steel. Both the metal cross guard, grip band and pommel have been lavishly plated in sterling silver. The large pommel also sports the coat of arms of Charlemagne on the one side, with the Face of a lion on the other, representing the bravery of Roland. Grip is wrapped in blood red leather with an embossed scrolling pattern. Sword comes with a heavy period scabbard and double belts, also made of the same matching blood red leather. ### FRANCESCA AXE

This axe is a beautiful example of a Frankish weapon used during the earlier part of the Middle Ages. An axe like this was also carried by Germanic armies into battle and was used in handto-hand combat, as well as a lethal throwing weapon. Our version, manufactured by Windlass Steelcrafts® has a rustic forge finish on the blade and the curved wooden shaft, making this feel great in your hand. #601027...$45

Stage Combat Swords By Windlass®

We've been asked for years for a good set of historically researched swords to perform with on stage. We wanted both authenticity and durability - the kind of sword you can bang edge to edge to complete your performance with confidence and look good doing it. Popular in Europe, we've brought out 3 styles that have the thick edges and rolled tips needed for live steel action. The Champion and The Templar can be used as a one-handed or hand-and-a-half sword, while The Knight Errant is a good two-handed sword. Strong, full tangs with peened construction and using solid steel or brass parts. Leather wrapped wood grips allow for a strong hold. High carbon steel blades provide years of rugged use. A leather scabbard with metal accents is included. Don't just act, perform!

Frank Frazetta was one of the most prolific and important artists of his time and has inspired generations of fans and continues to inspire artists today. His work can be seen in movie posters, cover art, paintings, comic books, LP record albums and many other places.

Originating from the fertile and stunningly creative mind of Frank Frazetta in 1973, the Death Dealer fantasy painting depicts this now famous icon as a menacing armor laden warrior with horned helmet sitting atop a fierce steed while holding a stunning, bloody axe and shield.

The Death Dealer Signature Edition series comprises the first 250 of each item: Axe, Shield, Helmet, Sword. Hand forged by the artisans at Windlass Steelcrafts®. All pieces are fully functional. Each will feature a custom Certificate of Authenticity hand-numbered and hand-signed by Frank Frazetta Jr.

Ashdown Viking Sword

In 871 AD, the young Prince Alfred (later known as Alfred the Great) valiantly lead the army of King Ethelred of Wessex in a glorious victory against a large invading Danish army. This sword signifies the main weapon used in this now decisive battle. The armorers of Windlass Steelcrafts® have forged this sword from high carbon steel. The full, extra-wide fuller makes the blade light and deadly. The crossguard has been lavishly decorated with raised knot work and both it and the pommel have been darkened to a forge finish. Soft worn leather covers the lamed wooden grip. A matching period leather scabbard with belt is included, which has a highly decorative metal shoe. #501561... $325 🖋 🖾
